College Boot Camp Makes It Debut at Ignite Conference

College Boot Camp made its debut at Ignite Conference at Mission High School in San Francisco on Saturday, March 2, 2013.

Brigette R. LeBlanc, the founder of College Boot Camp, delivered a 50-minute interactive workshop on Time Management & Goal Setting to local high school students. The objective of College Boot Camp was to teach high school students about time-management skills and the importance of goal setting in order to be successful not only in professional but also in personal life.

College Boot Camp successfully managed to help students discover new things about themselves and identify their strength and weaknesses in time management during the session. Accordingly, College Boot Camp provided numerous suggestions and tips for improvement and offered follow-ups with students.

College Boot Camp will continue to provide a way for students to learn about college opportunities while learning life skills. College Boot Camp will prepare students for College and Life.
